HALFTIME. Construction workers prepare the eastern half of the 19th Street overpass for concrete pouring which is scheduled to begin in about a week. The western approach and road deck have been completed thus far at the project which will eventually link downtown with West Granite City. The overpass is expected to be opened to motorists in late fall of this year.

Delay in traffic light repair

Motorists in Granite City who have been delayed by a traffic light at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue flashing red all four directions this week will have to put up with the frustration a while longer.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer told the city council last week that the control box for the lights has been "tapped" by cars on numerous occasions and last week it was "tapped once too often."

He said R. Dron Electrical, the firm which repairs the city's traffic lights, has estimated that the control box would cost $4,000 to $5,000 to repair. Noting that it was installed seven years ago under the TOPICS program, and that several used parts were used in it, Brewer said the city should consider replacing the control box, rather than patching it up.

He said he is getting a proposal from Dron to replace the box, but the city probably will have to advertise for sealed bids on a replacement. "We probably will pay for it out of motor fuel tax funds, so we have to be careful about bidding procedures," Brewer told the council.

He said the 1981-82 motor fuel tax budget currently is being prepared and should be available for council consideration Tuesday night.

"Hopefully, it will contain a lot of money for striping (of street lines)," he added.

The council Tuesday night may study a proposal that a stop sign be erected for northbound traffic on Grand Avenue at 24th Street, the site of a serious accident last week where a motorist was pinned in a car.

Alderman Paul Fisk asked the city's traffic committee to look into the possibility of bringing in an ordinance for the sign, saying that visibility at the intersection is hampered by a large hedge and there have been several accidents there recently.

"I don't think we can do anything about the hedge, but we can look into it," he said.

The council also received a petition

Agree upon revision of unemployment laws

Agreement on a $497 million package of benefit and tax reforms in the state's unemployment insurance system was reached Thursday at a summit meeting in the executive mansion at Springfield, Governor James R. Thompson and Democratic and Republican legislative leaders announced.

"The reform package is an equitable compromise in which both labor and business have made significant sacrifices for the betterment of all who live and work in Illinois," the governor said.

"Their agreement will not only reinforce the original purpose of the unemployment insurance system by eliminating significant inequities, but it also will have a real and positive impact on the fiscal condition of the state's Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund."

The 32 at the meeting included State Rep. Jim McPike (D, Alton) of this district and former Granite Cityan Robert G. Gibson, president of the Illinois State AFL-CIO.

Included in the agreement, which will be submitted to the General Assembly for approval, are the following changes in benefits:

—The maximum benefit amount will be frozen at the July 1981 level through January 1982. One half of the July 1982 adjustment in maximum benefits will be implemented, rather than the full adjustment. Thereafter, maximum benefits will be adjusted every January rather than twice a year as they are now.

—Those persons voluntarily quitting their jobs will be disqualified for benefits until they earn an amount equal to their weekly benefit amount in each of four weeks.

—Those persons refusing suitable work will be disqualified for benefits until they earn an amount equal to their weekly benefit amount in each of four weeks.

—Claimant's first week of unemployment will not be compensated.

—Qualifying wages will be increased from $1,400 to $1,600 with the required earnings outside the highest quarter of earnings increased from $385 to $440.

—Vacation and holiday pay will be deductible from the weekly benefit amount.

—The period of recoupment by the state for overpayments will be increased from one year to three years.

—The definition of "base period" will be changed to the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters.

A special management task force will be created to review the operations of the Bureau of Employment Security and recommend ways to improve internal management and services to both employers and employees.

The Task Force will also consider such areas as establishing a standard for prompt decisions by adjudicators, improving job search programs, seeking adjustments in the federal methods for distributing ad-

Dr. Thurnace York leaves for 'City of Faith' post

Dr. Thurnace York, formerly of Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church, has received a new appointment as the associate director of Prayer Partners for the City of Faith in Tulsa, Okla.

Dr. York will assume his duties in Pastoral care and counseling immediately since being selected by a search committee under the direction of evangelist, educator and author, Oral Roberts.

York previously assisted Oral Roberts in 1946 as a volunteer and helped establish the first office of Oral Roberts Ministries.

The City of Faith is associated with the Oral Roberts Evangelistic Association and Oral Roberts University. The city is in its primary stages of staffing and development and it will eventually employ 4,000 people.

Construction of the City of Faith is nearing completion and will within one year's time be responsible for serving the needs of at least one million people.

The city consists of a 777 unit hospital, 60 story clinic and diagnostic center and a 20 story structure focusing on research into cancer and heart disease.

York will deal with the spiritual life of the City of Faith, both support staff counseling and patient care.

Dr. York has had a successful ministry at Tri-City Park Tabernacle since coming from PTL in Charlotte, N.C. two years ago.

He has served on the Granite City Library Board and was active in the Granite City Rotary Club.

He is being replaced by the Rev. James A. Parks, formerly the Director of Counseling Ministries for St. Louis for the Christian Broadcasting Network and the 700 Club.

Parks originally is from Granite City where he attended public schools then graduated from Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., achieving a Bachelor of Arts in Bible.

Married to the former Sharon Joy Wedell, Rev. and Mrs. Parks have two children, Eric, 8, and Shara, 5.

"We are excited about our new position here in Granite City and are looking forward to a long and prosperous ministry in the area," Parks commented.

Rev. Parks assumed the pastorate on Wednesday, a spokesman added.

Quiet Valley sewers possible soon

By GARY SCHNEIDER

of the Press-Record

One hundred and forty-seven homes in the Quiet Valley Subdivision of Pontoon Beach could be using the new county sanitary sewers by early next month if the village's sewer lines through the subdivision are found free of groundwater infiltration.

That was the good news Gene Futch, superintendent of the Madison County Special Sewer District One, gave members of the sewers and drainage committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce last week.

Thus far, Futch said, his office has issued 2,300 tap-on permits to residents of the service area and have actually approved the connections for 1,900 homes.

Addition of the 147 homes in Quiet Valley can take place "just by turning a valve," Futch said, noting that the complicated infiltration study should be completed soon. The Quiet Valley lagoon, used as a sewage holding pond, then can be closed, eliminating one health hazard in the village.

After that, the sewer connections to the holding pond which serves the Gaslight Walk Apartments and the Village Green Mobile Home Park can be tested and, if they are found to be free of leaks, can be connected to the new sanitary sewers.

Since that pond and those sewers are privately-owned, the owners will have to pay for both the expensive study and for the tap-on permit.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1982, the fee for the tap-on permit is expected to rise from $25 to $400.

That increase is designed to urge most residents of Nameoki, Chouteau

Phone calls cut proposed valuations more than 90%

By BILL WINTER

of the Press-Record

(Seventh in a series)

Telephone calls were the chief method utilized to obtain follow-up assessment certificates of error for a Nameoki Road area multiple-property owner, according to information compiled by the state government.

Some of the phone calls led to changes, ordered by Madison County, that decreased proposed valuations by more than 90 percent—to less than a tenth of the amounts proposed by Granite City Township.

A massive report on county-level assessment review procedures has been prepared by the Department of Criminal Investigation (DCI) of the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement.

No improprieties were alleged, except that the DCI says some Board of Review certificates of error were issued in various communities in Madison County in the 1970s without being referred to circuit judges for formal enactment.

Documents indicate that a group of five Nameoki properties was the topic of a DCI interview conducted Sept. 19, 1979:

—Tri-Mor Bowling Alley and an adjacent building, 3717 Nameoki Road.

—Farm Fresh store facilities, 3715 Nameoki Road.

—Granite City Car Wash, 3635 Nameoki Road.

—Stearns Auto, 3711 Nameoki Road.

—And Ross Construction Co. quarters, 3701 Nameoki Road.

Figures mentioned in the report cover 1974-75-76-77 assessments set by the Granite City assessor; reduced valuations stemming from certificates of error; and the amounts of property taxes paid.

Original and reduced assessments for the four years, in that order, were: Tri-Mor (formerly Big Top Bowl) $100,690 cut to $47,000; $125,690 reduced to $59,000; $135,750 cut to $62,000; and $174,670 reduced to $80,000. (Taxes paid: $3,121, $3,957, $4,023 and $5,562.)

Farm Store $21,650 cut to $15,100; $21,650 again reduced to $15,100; $44,120 reduced to $15,100; and $43,460 cut to $15,000. (Taxes paid: $1,002, $1,012, $979 and $1,042.)

Car Wash $39,140 cut to $11,000; $28,640 reduced to $10,500; $42,270 cut to $11,000; and $41,640 trimmed to $11,000. (Taxes paid: $732, $704, $715 and $766.)

Stearns Auto $8,550 reduced to $2,250 each of two years; $25,650 cut to $2,250; and $25,270 reduced to $2,500. (Taxes paid: $149, $150, $146 and $173.)

Ross Construction $1,890 unchanged; $9,170 reduced to $4,580; $9,900 cut to $4,950; and $9,750 reduced to $4,850. (Taxes paid: $128, $307, $321 and $344.)

Grants available for necessary air cooling

Grants to pay a portion of the cost of medically necessary cooling are now available through the state's energy assistance program (LIEAP).

Eligibility requirements are the same as those for heating assistance under the LIEAP program. Households must provide proof of income; a copy of their latest utility bill, if applicable; and a physician's statement that cooling is medically necessary for a household member. A certification form to be signed by a doctor may be obtained from local LIEAP agencies.

Grants will range from $70 to $180 statewide, depending on income and geographic location.

To receive assistance, individuals must make application to their local LIEAP administering agency. For complete information on the cooling grant program and the name and address of local LIEAP agencies, individuals may call, toll-free, 1-800-252-8643.

"Individuals suffering from respiratory and cardiovascular conditions; allergies requiring filtered air; strokes; skin diseases; diabetes; and heat exhaustion may qualify for assistance," Wayne Curtis, DCCA LIEAP program manager, said.

Both home-owners and renters may qualify for grants, including renters whose utility costs are included in their monthly rental payments.

Rotarians install Maxwell

Granite City Rotarians last week installed Robert Maxwell, Granite City Steel training director, as their president for the 1981-82 year. He succeeds George Moore Sr.

His wife, Mrs. Jean Maxwell, is the new president of the Rotary-Ann. The joint installation by Richard M. West took place at a buffet dinner at Sunset Hills Country Club, attended by more than 100.

New officers of the Rotary club include Tom Thebeau and Willie Seim, vice-presidents; Paul Mills, secretary, assisted by Robert Stack; Tom Ross, treasurer, assisted by Paul Rackiewicz; and Donald Van Horn, sergeant-at-arms.

New directors are Van Horn, John Spear and Jack Wilkins. They join Richard Suess, Elmer Baker, Bob Jones, Paul Mihalich, Earl Dotzauer and Herbert Schermer as board members.

Rotary-Ann officers beginning in July include Mrs. Emily Thebeau, vice-president; Mrs. Thelma Baker, secretary, and Mrs. Dorothy Kerch, treasurer. Adviser is Mrs. Joni Karandjoff.

Past District Rotary Governor Kenneth L. Evers, a Granite City Rotarian and the new mayor of Edwardsville, offered the invocation and presented Paul Harris Fellow membership to West. Harris founded Rotary International in 1905 at Chicago.

Dean Maberry, a past president, awarded Harris Fellow recognition to Mrs. Beryl E. (Marie) Moody, representing her late husband, a past president of Granite City Rotary.

Others in the Harris fellowship are Past District Governor George T. Wilkins, Edwin G. Schmitt, Edward J. Meng, Joseph Hassler, Donald Shaffer, Elmer Baker, Richard W. Kerch and Herb Schermer.

Meng was honored for 35 years of perfect attendance. Other perfect attendance award recipients included Wilkins, 26 years, Kerch, 25, Evers, 15, and Warren Decatur, 13 years.

Maxwell and Moore presented talks. Maxwell gave a special award to Bill H. Terrell and introduced the guest speaker, Manuel Wilkins. An official of Psychological Associates, Inc., Sherrberg spoke on "People and Productivity."

Past resident pins were presented to Moore, Mrs. Karandjoff and Mrs. Fran Slater.

and Venice townships to connect their homes to the new sewers before this winter. That is one of the changes being proposed by the county as Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith rewrites the ordinance under which the sewer district operates. The ordinance currently in effect demands that residents tap into the new sewers within 90 days of the date their section of the sewer has been officially declared open.

Futch said that portion of the ordinance has not been enforced, since the expense and work involved in linking a home to the new sewers is such that homeowners should be given some flexibility, rather than a strict deadline.

Futch noted that the current ordinance requires a formal public notice when a section is opened notifying residents of the 90-day deadline and no such public notices have yet been issued by his office or the county.

Another part of the ordinance being rewritten by Smith deals with the controversial issue of who should design and build collector sewers in new subdivisions.

The current ordinance requires a builder to allow the county to select the engineer to design the sewers and to select the contractor through competitive bidding, even though the developer, who is paying for the construction, may be a contractor capable of installing the sewers himself.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer, a registered professional engineer, said at the Chamber committee meeting that he has heard objections from other engineers that the county is, in effect, prohibiting them from practicing their profession when it comes to sewers in Madison County, since the county sewer committee has traditionally appointed Juneau Associates as engineer for the sewer work.

"I feel it is an infringement upon my professional right to tell me I cannot engineer sewers. Sewers are just not that highly technical to install. Anyone can install them if they know how to use a level," Brewer said, stressing that he was speaking as an engineer and not as an employee of Granite City.

Developer Jim Whitt, another member of the drainage committee, contended the ordinance, in its present stage, "Infringes on my civil rights under the constitution." He said that if the voters had known there would be $15.80 per home treatment fee, a $400 per home tap-on fee and restrictions on who can engineer and build sewers, they would have voted against the bond issue which paid the local share of the sewer construction cost.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and a former chairman of the sewer committee (he is no longer a member), commented, "I don't know if the voters have the right to say who designs the sewers. I am concerned with the requirement of an engineer appointed by the county for sewer work rather than any licensed engineer."

However, Futch said he believes the same requirements are being written into the new ordinance by Smith as in the old ordinance. "I believe that is in there," Futch said.

Phone

holdings as rental properties, the DCI said.

"He stated that in 1972 or 1973 he had initially met with the Board of Review concerning the assessments and the taxes on his properties."

"He stated that at that time, he advised the board that he was overassessed for the income produced from the rental of the properties."

"After the initial meeting, certificates of error were issued on the properties."

"Asked if he handled contacting the Board of Review each subsequent time after his initial meeting, Ross stated he would call (James) Barton's office and advise someone in that (supervisor of assessments) office that his assessment was again high. A certificate of error for the properties would be issued."

"Ross stated that he handled these in a manner of course of business—that the reductions were made by comparing other like properties to the properties he owned."

He said that, initially, his attorney helped in getting each reduction with the Board of Review and that the attorney was helping him appeal his 1978 taxes.

Asked if he felt the reductions on the properties he owns were just, Ross stated that he felt they were.

Granite City Assessor Von Dee Cruse, interviewed May 29, 1979, said Tri-Mor Bowl was owned by Henry Ross, construction Co. and that Ross's offices were located in the building.

The assessor said, "This property includes additional shops which were located at the rear portion of the bowling alley."

Cruse stated that this assessment is, in his opinion, low and that he cannot see any reason why the taxes should have been reduced by the Board of Review.

Supervisor of Assessments Barton told the DCI that Ross "had problems with the Brunswick Company in reference to a lease in which Brunswick almost received every penny that was

If Smith continues the requirement for county selection of an engineer and contractor for private subdivisions, it will be in apparent violation of a legal opinion issued in July, 1979, by Assistant State's Attorney Michael Thompson, which warns that such controls may violate federal and Illinois anti-trust laws.

"I am gravely concerned that if, in fact, there is to be a provision in the ordinance requiring the use of firms specified by the county, the county and its officers could be subject to anti-trust prosecution for unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce," Thompson said in a legal opinion to the attorney for the sewer committee.

"I also would question whether or not such a provision would satisfy equal protection requirements," he added. According to the late Harry Hartman, who served as the committee's attorney until his death, the current ordinance was prepared by the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab engineering firm of Granite City, which later became Juneau Associates. Juneau has been the sewer engineer for the county and has been selected for all or nearly all of the engineering work ordered by the sewer committee.

The committee unanimously agreed to write a letter to Smith outlining the committee's concern over requirements in the proposed ordinance, including the $400 tap-on fee and continuation of the county's selections of engineers and contractors for subdivision sewers, and asking him for a response before the ordinance is presented to the Madison County Board.

received through the bowling alley.

"Barton advised Ross to see Cruse about a lowering of the assessment."

"However, Cruse would not reduce the property, so it was reduced by certificate of error at the Board of Review area."

"Now that the lease is up on the bowling alley, the assessment will go back up to the normal level, Barton said."

"The 1978 taxes were reduced by a judge in Madison County to the same reduction that was given to Ross on the 1977 certificate of error."

"Barton advised at this time that in situations such as Ross's, the Board of Review and (his) office try to help as much as possible the individuals that are in financial difficulty, by lowering their assessment—so that they do not cause them to lose their properties."

"(This is done) because, if the property were lost, there would be no tax monies coming in from the assessment for that property."

convenient time, because I have to work. The long lines do not help any," one man commented after waiting in line on a Friday.

The new schedule should be more convenient and should greatly reduce the lines, councilmen believe.

In other business, the council:

—Received a letter from Illinois-American Water Co., which noted that new fire hydrants had been installed, on the council's request, on the 1900 block of Adams Street, on Independence Drive and in the 2900 block of Washington Avenue.

—Approved a request for the placement of a mobile home at 2107 Louisa St. Written permission of 90 percent of the neighbors residing within 150 feet of the location was obtained and the city's building and zoning department therefore endorsed the request.

—Received petition for a stop sign at the end of the 2300 block of Clark Avenue and referred it to the city attorney and council's traffic committee for study and a recommendation.

—Asked the ward aldermen to investigate a Niedringhaus Avenue business with pinball machines and pool tables which may have failed to get council approval for a gaming room. Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer said the operation was halted two weeks ago by police, who pulled the plugs on most of the unlicensed machines and referred the matter to City Inspector Emerald Dawes.

ministrative funds, and other areas. The combined dollar impact of these benefit cuts is $256.5 million.

The Bureau of Employment Security projects that total benefit expenditures for calendar year 1982 will be $1.903 billion. Without these changes, expenditures would have been $1.260 billion.

The following changes will be made on the tax side of the system:

1. The minimum tax rate will be increased from 0.1 percent to 0.2 percent.

2. The state emergency surcharge will be increased from 0.3 percent to 0.4 percent.

3. The taxable wage base will be increased from $6,500 to $7,000.

4. The maximum tax rate will be increased from 5 percent to 5.5 percent.

5. Employers with a total payroll of less than $50,000 a quarter will be charged a maximum tax rate of 2.7 percent for that quarter.

6. Interest on delinquent tax payments will be increased from 1 percent to 2 percent. Penalty charges for late filing of employer reports will also be increased.

The impact of the tax changes is $168.8 million. As a result, the Trust Fund is projected to achieve a balanced cash flow by the end of calendar year 1982.

In addition to these tax changes, Illinois employers are paying $75 million for the federal penalty tax, which goes toward repaying the State's existing debt.

The total amount from the tax changes and the penalty tax is $240.8 million.

This is a great day for employers, labor and all working men and women in Illinois," Governor Thompson said after the meeting. "I am particularly grateful to the men and women who worked night and day for the past two and a half days to reach this most vital settlement."

The governor and legislative leaders convened the group on Tuesday in the executive mansion to deal with problems facing the state's unemployment insurance system.

Illinois now owes the federal government $1.4 billion and that figure could reach $2 billion by the end of the year if changes are not made, it was noted.

"As a result of this agreement, the state will be able to reduce the anticipated amount of borrowing from the federal government for next spring."

"And it will eliminate the need to borrow thereafter, as well as eventually returning the Trust Fund to a balanced condition," the governor concluded.

from residents of Clark Avenue who say their street is "bleeding" a tar-like substance and they would like the city to correct the problem.

An experimental surface material was installed on that street during the city's last resurfacing program and has never completely dried, one alderman explained. Putting rock on the surface has not stopped the substance from bleeding to the top and causing a mess, he added.

The petition was referred to the traffic committee and the city street superintendent to determine what can be done to aid the residents.

Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell reported that between May 18 and June 15, crews removed 358 truckloads of fallen brush and tree limbs from the city. The limbs were blown from trees during the April 3 tornado and two windstorms in April and May.

"We've pretty much gotten out in front of it (the brush problem)," Portell told the council.

Portell was asked to look into the possibility of purchasing the necessary equipment for the street department to patch its own tires. Alderman Jake Varadani of the Fifth Ward reviewed the bill and commented, "It is unbelievable how many hundreds of dollars are spent repairing tires."

Portell agreed to investigate the prices of the necessary equipment and report back to the council.

Anniversary dinner for 'Sen. Sam' on July 31

An appreciation dinner to honor State Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene will be held on the evening of July 31, it has been announced by Nick Maggos, general chairman for the event. The purpose of the dinner is to celebrate the 15th anniversary of Vadalabene's service in the Illinois General Assembly.

"These have been 15 very special years of crystal clear service to the 56th District," Maggos noted, "so it is fitting that this crystal anniversary be recognized by all the citizens who have benefited so abundantly by having a man like Sen. Sam fighting for their interest in Springfield."

"Because Sen. Sam has so many friends, cutting across party lines from all walks of life, we are trying to keep the cost down. Thus, tickets are priced at $35 per person with reservations available for tables of 10 at $350."

In these inflationary days, we want to make the event as accessible to as many friends and supporters of Sen. Sam as possible," Maggos said. "In fact, we urge that reservations be made quickly. There is going to be a heavy demand for

Eat Yourself Slim

Bruises associated with weight loss concerned about how I can handle this problem, and I hope you can help me.

My husband just bought a sailboat and has invited friends to go with us on a week's trip next month. I always get seasick on a boat, and I don't know what foods to eat. Do you have any suggestions for foods to help or prevent the nausea?

Mrs. A.E.

Dear Mrs. A.E.: This may surprise you, but eating sweet foods, and keeping sugary soft drinks on board your boat may help.

Don't let yourself get too hungry. Frequent smaller meals are better than three large ones.

Bland, non-irritating foods, such as chicken, rice, applesauce, mild cheese, bland cereal, ginger ale, white toast are usually well tolerated. Avoid strong food odors, especially oily foods.

Try Dramamine, or other anti-motion sickness pills before, and during the trip. Find the quietest place on the boat and rest there. Don't watch the water well moving, and try to relax.

Sea sickness will disappear eventually, but it can be a most uncomfortable problem for awhile.

Dear Shirley: I have been having a lot of gas pains lately, and I wonder if it could be something I am eating. I have never been on a diet, but I read your column all the time, and I thought I would ask you if there are any foods that could cause this problem?

I like and eat everything, but I have been quite uncomfortable, especially after dinner. I don't need this problem, because I am an auto worker and I just lost my job, after 19 years. — Mr. T.R.

Dear Mr. T.R.: I am so sorry to hear about your job loss. That is a very stressful thing.

Many folks react to stress by unwittingly swallowing air. This is quite a common problem, and it may be doing it, without knowing it. Gas-forming vegetables such as broccoli, cabbage, Vaseline sprouts, lettuce and beans may aggravate it. Milk and milk products may cause gassy, bloaty problems in some people.

Write down what you eat, and your reactions to your meals for two to three weeks. Try to pinpoint the culprit foods and eliminate them. Look for simple recreational exercises — walking or playing whatever games you enjoy.

Your pharmacist may have some over-the-counter medications that help. If simple measures don't help, see your doctor.

EMT describes emergency medical services to BPW

By VALERIE EVENSEN
of the Press-Record

"You could save someone's life if you are trained in CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation), and we'd like to encourage you to take a CPR class," Mark Evenson, an emergency medical technician with the Granite City Fire Department, told the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

Speaking to BPW members at their June dinner meeting last week at Burns Cafeteria, Evenson emphasized the importance of having "self help knowledge of first aid" to cope with an emergency until professional help arrives.

"In Granite City, we are a maximum of three minutes away from almost any area," he said.

He reminded members the telephone number to call for an ambulance is 877-4747. To report a fire the number is 876-4545.

In addition to his duties as a Granite City EMT, Evenson is a senior nursing student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and plans to continue his education in the field of anesthesiology after receiving his degree at SIUE.

The vast majority of calls made to the city's emergency medical service concern possible heart attack victims and auto accidents, the EMT said.

He described how the service originated in 1977 and said a total of 16,231 ambulance runs have been made to date during the four years of its existence.

Evenson said the department has 20 emergency medical technicians, with five out of the 20 also being qualified paramedics.

It requires about one year's additional training to become a paramedic, over and above EMT training, plus intern training twice a month at an approved hospital.

The latter service is performed on one's own time, he explained. Current training is taken at St. Louis University and Wood River Township Hospital.

In the event someone is injured in the home, Evenson stressed those without training should "leave the person alone and don't move them."

"Just don't do anything if you are not trained. You could harm the victim even more," he cautioned.

He said the number of "crank" calls has decreased since automatic tracing equipment was installed last year.

"We still get quite a few crank calls from Madison," he said, pointing out that Madison residents must now request ambulance service through its police department due to the number of false calls.

If calling for fire department or ambulance service, he reminded the group to state their name and address.

Quite frequently, Evenson said, someone will call and say, "My husband is having a heart attack," and in haste will hang up the phone before saying where they live or giving a name.

One BPW member commended the local emergency medical service for quick action which, she said, "saved the life of my father."

Another member, however, questioned the policy of taking a patient first to St. Elizabeth Medical Center before transferring him to a St. Louis hospital, even though the man's doctor is at the second hospital.

Evenson replied, "Our job is to get the patient to the nearest medical facility. The closest hospital is the safest bet when you are dealing with a heart patient," he added.

After his talk, several BPW members indicated interest in attending at CPR class which will be sponsored later this summer.

The guest speaker was introduced by Patricia Crockerell, first vice-president and program planning chairman. Nina Limbaugh was dinner chairman.

Ollie Derr, BPW president, welcomed the members and guests from the Collinsville BPW Club.

Among those present were Miss Annellen Smith, Illinois Federation president-elect, and Lois Wetton, District 14 director.

Reports from the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's state convention in Chicago were presented by Mrs. Derr, Sharold Yount, president-elect, Patricia Crockerell, first vice-president, and Rosalie Stern, immediate past president.

Hazel Rollins asked members to donate cakes and while elephant items for the Downtown Granite City sidewalk sales' days, June 25 through June 27, when the club will sponsor a booth.

Storm hits area

Severe storms which pelted the Quad-City area during much of the spring continued during the first day of summer yesterday and more rain was received this morning.

Lightning and hail accompanied a storm in the early morning hours on Father's Day, but there was little damage reported to authorities.

Heavy lightning awoke many residents early this morning and the night was filled with the sound of sirens as fire trucks and emergency vehicles responded to several fires and auto accidents.

The home of Edward Knobbe, 2 Frontenac Lane, and Howard Seitz, 4 Frontenac Lane, were damaged when lightning struck them at 11:55 p.m. Sunday, blowing out the fuses in Knobbe's home and damaging the microwave oven in the Seitz' house and causing about $700 damage. There was no damage estimate available for Knobbe's home, but firemen said there was minor damage to the wiring. Firemen were there for 35 minutes.

A fire at the home of Stan Hoffman, 2029 Clark Ave., which was fought at 5:30 p.m. Sunday and rekindled at 12:35 a.m. today, is not believed to be related to the storm, but firefighters remained on the scene until 3:40 this morning. The possibility of arson being responsible for the rekindling of the fire is under investigation, police confirmed.

The storm early Sunday produced the heaviest rainfall of the month. A total of 1.75 inches of rain was measured at the Chain of Rocks Canal for the 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. Sunday. Some flooding was reported.

Another .55 of an inch of rain fell in the 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today. The rainfall brought the total for the month of June, thus far, to 5.61 inches, well above the normal rainfall for the entire month of 4.2 inches.

AUTO BURGLARY Steve Waltemate, 19, of 212 Wilson Park Lane, reported at 7:38 a.m. Saturday that a drill and circular saw with total value of $165 was taken from his car while it was parked at Jack-In-The-Box. He was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge at 2:30 a.m. Saturday and released at 7:22 a.m. on $35 cash and when he returned to his car discovered the burglary.

POOL DAMAGED Diana Nancy, 2554 Buenger Ave., discovered at 4:25 p.m. Thursday that someone had shot two holes in her above-ground swimming pool. Madison County Sheriff's deputies believe the damage was done with a .22 caliber weapon.

Her companion, Vernon G. Dycus, 31, of 3530 Oregon, St. Louis, was charged with disorderly conduct and obstructing justice, after he allegedly became abusive in the police station. The baby was put in the care of Family and Children Services.

THE BEAVER BRIGADE. Youth Conservation Corps workers at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville begin the eight-week summer work-study program by cutting out the locusts they will need to build hand bridges and benches for nature trails and exercise paths. The program, under SIUE education professor Bob Williams, pays 36 teen-agers minimum wages to work and learn about conservation. The federal program is administered by the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Autopsy shows death was not from fight

A 33-year-old Granite City man who had been held in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville Friday in connection with another man's death was released Friday night after an autopsy showed that the victim had not been murdered.

The victim Richard H. Wotchko, 41, Livingston, Ill., died in a tavern fight in Williamson, near Livingston, Thursday night. The autopsy indicated that Mr. Wotchko died from a high concentration of alcohol in his system which contributed to heart failure. However, stress and strenuous exercise, such as a fight would produce, could have contributed to the death, authorities noted and said charges still may be filed against the Granite City man, after additional investigation.

According to a spokesman for the Madison County Sheriff's Department, the Granite City man was talking on the telephone at the Bridge Tavern in Livingston when Mr. Wotchko attacked him, apparently without provocation. No weapons were seen and the fight involved only fists and hands, witnesses said.

As the two men struggled, Wotchko collapsed and was pronounced dead a short time later at Staunton Memorial Hospital in Staunton.

Although there were no visible injuries on the victim's body, the Granite City man was ordered held until it could be determined whether Mr. Wotchko died of strangulation or other cause.

Dollars Spent At Home Keep Bouncing Back...

When you spend a dollar in the "big city"... or order from somebody's catalog... that dollar is gone forever.

But...when you spend it in our home town... it keeps on bouncing around the whole community...and finally a good share of it comes back to you.

For example: Let's say you buy a dress at a local dress shop. The dress shop uses your money to buy a new air-conditioner. The heating man in turn buys a new television set.

The t-v dealer buys some insurance. The insurance man spends it at a local food store, and the grocer spends it for food products; many of which are raised on nearby farms.

You're a farmer...so part of your dollar comes bouncing back.

Kehoe in running for Steamers?

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor

of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The St. Louis Steamers are looking for a new coach. And the most logical choice could be right in their own back yard. Or more precisely, in Granite City.

Popular Steamers coach Pat McBride resigned Friday afternoon, citing differences with the team's owners and management as the reason. He says there's no way he'll be back.

So the search is on. Bob Kehoe, head soccer coach at Granite City North High, could be a logical choice. After all, he and McBride are cast out of the same mold. They were teammates on the old St. Louis Stars of the North American Soccer League and McBride later played under Kehoe when the latter was head coach of the team for a season.

That professional experience and a closeness he has developed with the Steamers in the past two years could make him desirable to Steamers management when looking for McBride's replacement.

Search on for McBride's replacement

Of course, there are others who must be considered. And there's no way the Steamers can go outside the St. Louis metropolitan area to find a new coach and still show their faces in public. There's Bob Guelker of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Harry Keough at St. Louis University. Junior college coaches and even Gene Baker at Granite City South, where he's won five straight state championships. But there's something about that professional experience of Kehoe's that makes him look to be on top.

And Kehoe's philosophy would blend in well with that of the Steamers management and the Major Indoor Soccer League. He liked to use American-born players while he was coach of the St. Louis Stars. In fact, he was somewhat of a rebel with a cause back in those days. Using players mostly from the St. Louis area, number of foreign-born players on each team.

All this is hypothetical, of course, but if Kehoe were to be offered the position, would he take it? I don't commentary

Kehoe showed the NASL and the rest of the world that American-born players could compete with the foreign ones.

McBride and the MISL have made a point of using American-born players to prove the same point Kehoe was trying to prove years ago. In fact, there's a league rule allowing only a certain number of foreign-born players on each team.

A lot of water has passed under the bridge since Kehoe was involved with the professionals. He's finished college, gotten married, built a fine high school program. He enjoys his teaching job at Granite North. He enjoys working with young people and teaching fundamentals. In fact, this week, he's working with Guelker at a soccer camp at SIU-Edwardsville.

And besides, he may not want the hassles of the pro job. And being a close friend of McBride, he's well aware of the troubles that led him to resign.

McBride was on the verge of signing another two year contract with the Steamers last Friday. But he bucked when the team allegedly renewed on previously agreed terms in last-hour negotiations.

The management wanted McBride to sign a one-year pact. He said he wouldn't sign anything but a two-year agreement. And Saturday night, he said, "There's no way I'm going back." There is some speculation that McBride might return to the Meramec Junior College coaching job he once held. It's open, too.

McBride could still be back as coach. The 1980 MISL Coach of the Year, who this past season led his team into the league championship game in only its second year of existence, could be still talked into returning.

But if he doesn't return, the Steamers' search committee might be making a whistle stop in Granite City.

Hay... see dat jet up der?

Don't cry 'break up the Triplets' just yet

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor

of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Here's a happy note for area American Legion baseball teams. They don't have to start crying "Break up the Triplets." At least not just yet.

Tri-City's American Legion team proved it's human Thursday night when it dropped its first District 22 game of the season 7-3 to Belleville. It dropped the Triplets into a first place tie with Alton in the North Division. Each has a 6-1 record going into tonight's games.

And a poll of area teams (St. Louis and Metro-East) that appeared this weekend in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch ranked Alton third and Tri-City eighth.

That doesn't bother Tri-City manager Eldon Warfield. In fact he enjoys it. "I'd rather be the underdog," he said, using a cliché as old as coaches and sportswriting alike. But in this case, it's probably true. You see, Tri-City's Triplets are loaded. Loaded up and down the lineup. They can come at a team with more guns than General Sherman, and their pitching is as good as any. Probably better than most.

Listen to these names: Steve Doty, Keith Burton, Kevin Cripps, John Vrenick, Bob Ford, Rich Cope, Kevin Sykes. They all have returned to American Legion baseball after a year in junior college on JUCO baseball teams. Doty, Burton, Cripps and Ford come to the Tri-City fold from the old Glen Carbon team that disbanded after last season.

Glen Carbon used to get its players from Granite City North and Madison. Tri-City got its from Granite City South. Until this year. Now, they all come to Tri-City. It gives people an idea of what things might be like if Granite City North and Granite City South combined their athletic teams.

At least in baseball, the word is awesome. The Triplets come at you like they were loaded for bear. Bob Ford, the regular Tri-City centerfielder, could be one of the best baseball players in the area right now. He doesn't get the banner headlines, but he gets his job done. And he's hitting a ton. But he's not the only one. There's Rick Buer, who like Ford comes from Granite City North. Buer was one of the most consistent players in the area this spring for Coach Bob Stegemeier's North. And the Triplets' catcher, Daren DePew. As a sophomore at North, he proved he is one of the best, if not THE best receiver in the area. Before he's finished, he'll be one of the best to ever come out of Granite City.

The list goes one and on. But if the Triplets don't take themselves too seriously and read press clippings like this too often, it's possible that in August, they could be making a trip to the State League Tournament.

Tri-City erupts late to down Indiana team

Special to the Press-Record
EVANSVILLE, Ind. — It was a long way to go for just one game of baseball, but according to Tri-City American Legion Manager Eldon Warfield, it was worth it.

Tri-City erupted for four runs in the top of the eighth inning here Friday night to down Indiana's top-ranked Legion team, Newburgh, 7-3. The weekend trip to Evansville was to have included four games — one Friday, two Saturday and one Sunday. But torrential rains washed out Saturday's and Sunday's scheduled games.

"It was a long way to go," said Warfield. "But at least we won the one game we did play. If we'd have traveled that far and lost, it would have been a total loss."

Tri-City didn't use its regular starting lineup in Friday's victory. But it didn't seem to make much difference. Rick Daily started on the mound for the Triplets and went the distance, striking out six Newburgh batters and walking four. It was only his second action of the season on the mound. "Rick looked excellent," said Warfield. "We're trying to bring him along slowly. He pitched an awful lot in high school (Granite City South) this spring and he has to be brought along slowly. He looked good."

The rest of the lineup for the Triplets included sub John Linhart in leftfield, Kevin Cripps (one of Warfield's pitching aces) in rightfield, Joe Schnefke at third base and George Jarvis at first base.

"I wanted to get a chance to see as many guys play this weekend as I could," said Warfield. "Now, I'm glad I started looking in our first game."

With the score tied 3-3 going into the eighth, catcher Daren DePew walked leading off. Jarvis, trying to sacrifice him to second, reached first safely on an error by the third baseman. DePew scored when a pop-up by Linhart dropped in. Jarvis raced to third. A single by Kevin Sykes scored Linhart and a triple by Schnefke cleared the bases, scoring both Sykes and Linhart.

"The guys we put in there came through for the most part," said Warfield. "I'm happy with the way they stuck together and came back on this team."

"Newburgh's an awful good team," said Warfield. "Their pitcher (starter Joe Conway) was a state best we've seen this season. He had awful good stuff."

Tri-City's non-league victory comes on the heels of a District 22 upset loss last Thursday at the hands of Belleville. "I think losing

Corral splits with Civics

GRANITE CITY — Corral Liquors of Granite City split a doubleheader with the Hayman-Civics here Friday, losing the first game 5-3 and coming back to take the second game 3-2 in semipro action at Granite City South.

And the victory in the second game might just have put the Cowboys over the hump, according to player-manager Ken Crawford, who was the winning pitcher. "They (Civics) beat us pretty badly three times last season," he said. "This was the shot in the arm we needed. It gives us more confidence going back into our (Inter-City) league schedule."

Sunday, all Inter-City League games were rained out, including Corral at Maryville and Edwardsville at McDonald's. Plans call for rescheduling next Saturday.

Corral came up with some last-inning heroics to win the nightcap. It scored all three runs in the bottom of the seventh. Mike Robertson led off with a walk and stole second base. Steve Hagebrock then followed with an RBI single to leftfield. Newcomer Joe Richardson, who was a third baseman-outfielder at SIU-Carbondale last spring, followed that when he reached base on an error. The Civics catcher then threw wildly trying to get Richardson trying to steal second, allowing Hagebrook to come in to score. John Kerkovich then walked. That was followed by a single off the bat of Jeff Tertter that scored Richardson with the winning run.

I don't really know what the difference is between this year and last," said Crawford. "I guess, just a year's more experience." In the first game, Doug Rains went the distance for the Cowboys in absorbing the two-run loss. Bob Hughes was the winning pitcher. Jim Greenwald of the Civics was the hitting star with three RBIs.

Tennis star to play for Cougars

EDWARDSVILLE — Coach Bob Meyers of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville women's tennis team has announced the signing of Laurie Foederer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Foederer of Edwardsville. Foederer has chucked up a high school record of 87 victories and two losses. She also has the honor of being rated the number one tennis player in Southern Illinois, according to Coach Meyers.

The Highland High School graduate has played the number one position in singles competition for the Bulldogs. She also played number one doubles. Some of Foederer's victories include: the Highland Invitational the last four years; the Belleville East Invitational the last two years; and the high school district championship the last three years.

The incoming freshman athlete at SIUE will be working on general studies while looking into therapeutic recreation work. She taught tennis in the Highland area last summer.

The Highland native said she chose SIUE for two reasons. "I like the campus and the coach, plus it is close to home," she said.

Foederer will join the Cougars' Joan Mahon-Finder, Bunny Wall, Lillian Almeida, Mary Barnett and Kathy Zepher, along with other new recruits Coach Meyers expects to announce soon.

Reds tryout set

SALEM — A tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds on Friday, July 3, in Salem. The camp is open to boys from 16 to 22. High school sophomores, and juniors are also urged to attend.

Reds Scouting Supervisor, Chel Montgomery, will oversee the tryout, which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Salem High School Field.

Montgomery will be assisted by scouts Bob Jamison, Eugene Majors and Emil Toffant.

All eligible players are requested to furnish their own personal gear—shoes, uniforms, gloves. The Reds will provide bats and baseballs.

In addition, players will be responsible for traveling and living expenses, if any, unless they are signed to contracts with the Cincinnati Reds organization teams.

SUPER STARS

Sports Talk

Bruce Sutter

A pitcher who never thinks twice about sending his starter to an early shower and bringing in his bullpen ace.

Those men who sit in the bullpen and wait for their number to be called are also perceived differently today. Now there is something glamorous about the fireman who enters the fray with the game's very pitch on the line. Flamethrower and junkball artist, these pitchers who deal in short and long inning relief have become as specialized as transmission experts or car, nose and throat men.

Super Star Bruce Sutter has a reputation for being one of the best relief pitchers to ever play the game. Last season Bruce was honored for not only being the best reliever in baseball, but the National League's No. 1 pitcher. The only other bullpen ace to win the Cy Young Award — given annually to the league's most outstanding hurler — were Sparky Lyle and Mike Marshall.

Sutter, a native of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, has been putting fire-out for the Chicago Cubs since 1976. Last year the 27-year-old right-hander saved 37 games for the Cubs and won six more. Entering game in the late innings with the score tied or his team several runs ahead, Bruce was like money in the bank for manager Herman Franks. Chicago pitchers, who normally would be as eager to part with the baseball as their first born, actually learned to accept the sight of Bruce strolling in from the bullpen to protect their lead. They really had little choice — the Super Star appeared in about half of Chicago's games.

"A good relief pitcher must be able to quickly size up the game situation whether he enters the game in the first or the ninth inning," said Sutter. "He has to have ability to be prepared at a moment's notice, both mentally and physically."

Up until the late-1940's, pitchers looked upon a trip to the bullpen as one step above a trip to the minors. The word "save" was not even in the baseball lexicon. Starting pitchers, win or lose, were expected to finish what they had begun. A relief pitcher was just that, a pitcher who was a backup player because he was not good enough to start.

Things changed in 1947 when Joe Page of the Yankees and Hugh Casey of the Dodgers got people into thinking about relief pitching as a craft. In 1949 Page, who by then had acquired the nickname of "Fireman," recorded 27 saves for the World Champion Yankees.

The 1950 "Whiz Kids" from Philadelphia had that year's best relief pitcher in Jim Konstanty, who saved 22 games for the Sox, as did the St. Louis Cardinals, had blossomed.

The line of good relief pitchers continued into the 1960's, yet the bullpen was not only looked a bit weird behind a huge pair of bifocals, he also tended to throw smoke that rose — over the heads of both the catcher and the batter.

The Yankees in the early 1960's counted heavily on a stubby little fellow from Puerto Rico named Luis Arroyo. In 1961, Arroyo won 15 games and saved 29 more, most of the mop-up work being for Hall of Famer Whitey Ford. That was the short of it. The tall of it was Dick Radatz of the Red Sox, who was called "The Monster" by friend and foe for his size — 6'6" and 230 pounds — and a devastation he created with his fastball.

Since then, top relief pitchers have moved the profession to new heights. Great relievers like Sutter, Kent Tekulve of the Pirates, Rolfe Fingers of the Padres, Goose Gosage of the Yankees and Jim Kern of the Rangers stand out, but every club now has its bullpen specialists. They have no choice — the species known as the relief pitcher is here to stay.

College team includes familiar faces

EDWARDSVILLE — The composition of the 1981 NCAA Division II District IV baseball All-Star team graphically illustrates the strength of the schedule played by the Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Three squads were picked on the All-Star team with a total of 33 players honored from 13 midwest colleges and universities.

Of those 13 schools, Coach Gary Collins' SIUE team played seven and against 18 players making up the honored nine. The seven opponents were Lewis College, Southwest Missouri State, Eastern Illinois U., U. of Nebraska-Omaha, University of Missouri at St. Louis, Western Illinois U., and North Dakota U.

The Cougars' hard-hitting pitcher-designated hitter

(DH) Tom Ritzheimer, was a first team choice. He was selected as the first team's DH. For the season, the senior from Trenton, Ill., hit a new school record-high season batting average of .429. That figure also earned the big right-hander a top ranking in the final NCAA Division II statistics, a sixth-place finish. His .429 was just six points behind the two hitters who tied for first place in the "hit parade": Mike Galey, Augusta College, and Bill DeCollibus, C. W. Post University. Galey and DeCollibus each finished with a .438 average.

The Cougars, who won 11 of their last 14 games and finished with a 33-27 record, played against five first-team choices: Lewis U., Bob Tumpane, first base; Southwest Missouri State's catcher, Keith Champion of Granite City, and center fielder, Mark Garrett, Eastern Illinois U.'s Tim Pyznarski; and Joe Benes, pitcher for the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

On the second team, the Cougars matched skills with the following: Southwest Missouri State's first baseman, Mark Bailey; Missouri at St. Louis' second baseman, Dan Rankin; Western Illinois' third baseman, Jim Gallina; Nebraska-Omaha's center fielder, John Taylor; North Dakota left fielder, Chuck Erickson; and Eastern Illinois University's pitcher, Randy Weibel.

Six third-team choices played against SIUE. They were: University of Nebraska-Omaha's first and second basemen, Dave Poulceek and Mark Martiniez; Eastern Illinois U.'s shortstop, Randy Jones; South Dakota State U.'s center fielder, Galen Carver; Southwest Missouri State University's pitcher, Dave Dickensheets; and Lewis U.'s pitcher, Kirk Vucsko.

There were many highlights in the 1981 SIUE baseball season for Coach Collins and his charges, including the fact that it was the young mentor's first winning campaign in three. The biggest thrill and the one which gained them national attention was their 11-7 victory over the University of Missouri at Columbia, midway through the campaign.

What spotlighted the Cougars' victory over Missouri was the fact that it stopped a 16-game winning streak for the Tigers.

Hungate resigns post at Illinois

CHAMPAIGN — By a statement made late Tuesday evening, Mary Kay Hungate, recently chosen as a new Illinois Women's basketball assistant, relinquished her appointment to the position. Hungate will remain at St. Louis, where she is head girls' basketball coach at Peoria Richmond High School during the coming year.

Hungate explained she changed decision. "It (the appointment as an assistant coach at the University of Illinois) seemed like the perfect opportunity. But the more I thought about it, the more I felt that this wasn't the time for me to make the move into a division I program. I enjoy working with high school-age athletes, and I've only had this opportunity for three years. (The University of Illinois has an outstanding coaching staff and program, and it wouldn't be fair for me to accept this position if I was less than one hundred percent sure it was the right move for me.)"

Hungate was chosen for the newly-created assistant coaching position at Illinois early last month. In her three years as head coach of the Peoria Richmond

Knights, Hungate compiled a 76-8 record and brought the Knights to a state class "AA" runners-up finish this year, after reaching the Elite 8 of the IHSAA state playoffs in 1980. She was named as the Illinois Coaches' Association class "AA" Coach of the Year this year.

Illini head coach Jane Schroeder indicated that Hungate would have been a valuable component of the Illini staff, but immediate

The race, however, has been rescheduled for Sunday night July 12 at 7:30 p.m. This Friday and Saturday efforts would be made to find a new assistant. "I feel that Mary Hungate would have been an excellent addition to our basketball program here at Illinois. I only think it is unfortunate that she changed her mind at this time."

"We have already started talking with other candidates. We feel the opportunities in this position are unlimited, and we will find a highly qualified person to join our staff."

Steamers sign Cacciatore

ST. LOUIS — General Manager Mike Sanger announced today that the St. Louis Steamers have signed former Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville standout Jeff Cacciatore. The contract runs through the 1982-83 MISL season with an option for the following season. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

Cacciatore, a St. Louis native, is now the fourteenth player under contract with the Steamers. "Jeff is another example of the tremendous wealth of talent that abounds in local colleges and junior colleges," stated Sanger. "We are very happy to afford Jeff the chance to play before his home town fans."

Cacciatore came up through the ranks of the CYC youth soccer program at St. Ambrose and went on to become a Missouri All-State selection at St. Louis University High School under Head Coach Ebbie Dunn.

Then, it was on to SIUE where he played four years for Bob Guelker and the Cougars. In his four seasons he scored 11 goals and added 18 assists. After his senior year he was the No. one selection of the Ft. Lauderdale Strikers in the annual NASL draft. He was a member of the 1979 SIUE NCAA Champions. Steamer teammates Dan Elbert and Bob Bozada were also players on that team.

In two seasons with the Ft. Lauderdale indoor team, Jeff scored eight goals and had 11 assists. During his outdoor campaign with the same club he scored a goal and had one assist in 15 games. The Strikers made the playoffs that year and went all the way to the finals before bowing to the New York Cosmos. In six playoff games Cacciatore scored one goal.

Cacciatore was the Steamers number one draft choice in the MISL 1979 collegiate drafts.

Stickle sharp with javelin for SIUE

By DEB FRIED for the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — Lee Stickle wanted something to do in high school, so she went out for the girls' track team. Now she holds the Southern Illinois University Edwardsville school record in the javelin throw. Her mark was measured at 109'11", during the 1980 season.

Stickle competes in the discus event along with the javelin for SIUE. The discus is her favorite event. "I enjoy the discus the most, and I had my best throw this season which was 134'10", she said.

The Frances Howell (Missouri) high school graduate didn't throw the javelin in many meets this year. "I had a little trouble with my shoulder with some tendinitis setting in, so I didn't get to throw the javelin much. I wanted to throw it badly at State, but I can see why Coach Stark didn't allow me to. I was recovering from a week in bed with bronchitis," Stickle explained.

The senior athlete began competing in the javelin throw when her summer team was at a district meet.

My summer high school coach asked me if I wanted to try to throw the javelin, and I said sure. I went out and threw it and qualified for regionals," said Stickle. Stickle attended Central Missouri State University her freshman year and then transferred to SIUE. "I met Jane (Sumner) at a summer meet and became interested in coming to Edwardsville, and Coach (Lori) Stark recruited me after she knew I was going to transfer for sure," she explained.

The double major came to SIUE, leaning toward recreation, but she is picking up a major in special education and a minor in psychology. "I'm a senior, but I'll be around a while and I also have one more year of track eligibility left," Stickle said.

Stickle threw her 134'10" discus throw in the dark at one of the Cougars' home meets this season. The throw qualified her for the TFA-USA meet in Wichita, Kan. Sumner and Stark have helped Stickle a lot with different areas. Coach Stark is a good technician in helping me with the fine points of throwing in both the discus and the javelin," said Stickle.

"Yes, I do have that one year of eligibility left, but for school, I'm probably on the 10-year plan," Stickle said with a chuckle.

GC Business Women to sponsor Jr. Miss

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club will sponsor the 1981 Junior Miss Pageant for local high school girls in September.

The project was approved at last week's business session at Burns Cafeteria, conducted by Ollie Derr, president.

Proceeds from the pageant will be used to further the club's charitable and scholarship programs.

In other action, the resignation of Patricia Crockarell as first vice-president was accepted. Her attendance at nursing school will prevent her from serving in the newly elected post, she reported.

By recommendation of the executive board, Rose Ezell, current second vice-president, was appointed to fill the vacancy, with Barbara Hodges, parliamentary, named second vice-president.

LaVelle Stephens will serve as parliamentary. Carolyn Smith, finance chairman, read the names of her committee and announced budget preparation will begin July 8 at a meeting in her home. She asked all committee chairmen to prepare and present a report of anticipated expenses at that time.

Mrs. Smith also reviewed plans to start an investment club through which members may learn about stocks, bonds and investments.

Preliminary reports were presented concerning the annual style show, scheduled Oct. 18 at the Granite City Township Center, with Mrs. Hodges and Linda Irwin as co-chairmen.

Ann Graklanoff, Community Affairs chairman, said details shortly will be announced about a CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) course to be conducted by the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter for BPW members.

Other new committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Derr are:

Marionrose Lambert, Americanism; Delores Allen, historian; Linda Valencia, cheer; Sharon Beckett, Celia M. Howard Fellowship; Janet Mills.

Mary Frances Lynch, Pearl Ryckman, BPW Scholarship; Valerie Stevens, music; Sharold Yount, yearbook; Carolyn Smith, scrapbook; Rose

Ezell, bylaws revision; Anna Mae Gates, hospitality.

Helene Bischoff, International Business Women's Week; Hazel Rollins and Romana Burnett, National Business Women's Week; Norma Mendoza, Women Involved; Carolyn Frye, anniversary night; Edith Schwab, chaplain.

GIRL HIT AT POOL

A woman is being sought for striking a 13-year-old Delmar Avenue girl at 4 p.m. Thursday at the Wilson Park swimming pool. When the girl left later to return home, she found that her parked bicycle had been badly damaged; gears were ripped out, a wire cut, handlebar grips torn and a tire flattened.

ARREST ON WARRANT

A 15-year old boy, who gave an address in the 1700 block of Delmar Avenue, was arrested on a warrant as an escapee from the Department of Correction, Pere Marquette, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. He was taken back to the Pere Marquette facility later that night.

Montgomery to continue as insurance exchange head

Donald W. Montgomery will continue to be chairman of the Illinois Insurance Exchange. The interim board of directors and Philip R. O'Connor, director, Illinois Department of Insurance, both declined to accept the letter of resignation he submitted on May 28.

In his resignation notice, Montgomery expressed concern that his responsibilities and duties in Celina, Ohio, would not permit him to give the time he should devote to the development of the Exchange.

The interim board, in rejecting the resignation, said the best interest of the IIE would be served by continuing the momentum in finalizing its systems and procedures of operation with Montgomery as chairman. After being informed of the position taken by the interim board and that it had decided not to consider the election of a new chairman until the July 14 meeting, Montgomery said he had received the full support of his company to remain as chairman of the IIE.

James M. Skelton, Interim Executive Director of the IIE, said, "I'm delighted that Don (Montgomery) has chosen to continue his leadership."

IN COUNTY CUSTODY

Fred R. Welch, 17, of 1726 Cleveland Boulevard, charged with theft of a $2,525 diamond ring June 15 at the Bellemore Hudson Jewelry store, was transferred last week to the Madison County jail pending the posting of a $2,500 cash bond. Police located the discarded ring Tuesday on Wayne Avenue.

ARREST MAN IN PARK

Gilbert Fricke named stabilization director

Secretary of Agriculture John Block has appointed Gilbert Fricke of Petersburg as State Executive Director of the Illinois Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

As executive director, Fricke will be responsible for carrying out federal farm price support, production adjustment and cost sharing conservation programs in Illinois.

Since March of 1977, Fricke has been serving as Superintendent of Marketing and Agricultural Services at the Illinois Department of Agriculture. Director Larry Werries said, "We regret the loss of Glib Fricke, however, we are glad he has this opportunity."

portunity. Glib has been instrumental in developing recent policy which places a strong emphasis on agriculture exports.

In the early 1970's, he served as chairman of the Illinois Agriculture Association Business Service and the state marketing committee. He has been active in various agriculture groups and has served as president of the Illinois Pork Producers. He also was on the Illinois Agriculture Association Board of Directors from 1964-76, and two of its affiliates: FS Services and Country Companies. He served as an ASC committee member in the 1960's.

News notes

The Illinois Bankers Association is unhappy with multi-bank holding company legislation that passed the legislature last week. It objects to the Jan. 1, 1982, effective date, says the concentration of domestic deposits for each region should have been limited to ten percent, and asserts that acquisitions should have been limited to one bank a year for two years and two per year thereafter with a maximum of ten. President Jack Lemmerman said the IBA "represents more than 1,000 banks. Some bankers want the bill, but practically all want the threat of unlimited expansion curbed."

Air traffic controllers did not strike today, despite plans to do so. A tentative pay agreement was said to be nearly completed.

Wayne Williams, a black free-lance photographer, was charged with murder Sunday in one of the slayings of 28 young blacks in Atlanta.

The Postal Service may unilaterally raise mail charges to 20 cents a letter, despite two rejections in its effort to win approval of the rate. The Postal Rate Commission has limited first-class postage to 18 cents.

Governor James R. Thompson on Friday proposed a statewide sales tax increase to bolster the state treasury and the financially ailing Chicago area mass transit system. Earlier this spring, he failed to persuade legislators to adopt a new tax on companies. He now is suggesting a one-cent sales tax hike and increases in liquor taxes.

John Connell of New York, an internationally known fire expert, testified Friday in defense of James E. Lipert, who is charged with setting a fire that killed Lipert's wife Oct. 28. Connell said his study showed no evidence that flammable liquid was poured inside the residence.

Teachers lobbied Illinois legislators last week in opposition to tuition tax credits, saying the proposal would "kill public education."

Gov. Thompson plans to sign a newly passed legislation naming the white-tailed deer as the official state animal.

The state lottery will have sales of about $214 million in the fiscal year ending June 30, more than double the $98 million in 1979 and $50 million above the record year of 1975-76.

An alderman is suggesting that the City of Edwardsville use the former Madison County jail as a city office building, perhaps including the police station.

The Bi-State transit system is considering establishing a bus garage in Madison County.

A court ruling may enable cable television firms to stop "blackout" programs that duplicate those on area TV stations.

Suspect arson in house fire

An arson specialist on the Granite City police department was called to duty at 1:45 a.m. today to investigate the possibility of arson at the home of Stan Hoffman, 2029 Clark Ave.

The fire first broke out at 5:30 p.m. Sunday and two fire trucks extinguished it. Fire Captain Harvey Smalley fell down a set of steps and injured his back, but was released after emergency room treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The owner of the house and a friend boarded up the burned area, but left the side door unlocked, they told firefighters.

At 12:35 a.m. Monday, the fire rekindled and firemen were again called to the scene. Arson is suspected in the second fire and Police Detective Craig Nomm, an arson specialist, was called to the scene at 1:45 a.m. The fire was extinguished by 3:40 a.m., but Nomm remained on duty until 6 a.m., gathering evidence for his investigation. One pumper and the teletest were used in the fire battle.

The wedding of Miss Tamra Jo Terrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill H. Terrell, 31 Oaklawn Drive, and David Randall Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhodes, 2231 Dewey Ave., was solemnized on June 6 at Calvary Baptist Church.

Blue bows and greenery marked the pews and a brass arch, festooned with blue flowers and sprigs of greens, and a fern and basket of fresh flowers on each side of the altar provided the setting for the double ring ceremony.

Wedding music was furnished by soloists Karen Teitloff and Greg Terrell and Wayne and Amy Fisher. Instrumentalists were Connie LaVelle, Wayne Fisher and Diane Campbell, duetmaker player.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Terrell selected a white chiffon over taffeta old fashioned style gown featuring a fitted bodice with V-neckline and bishop sleeves accented with Venice and Chantilly lace motifs.

Multi-bank bill is sent to governor

Multi-bank holding company legislation, supported by the Association for Modern Banking in Illinois, was passed 99-59 Thursday by the Illinois House and was sent to the governor's desk. Sponsors included Rep. Jim McPike (D, Alton).

McPike said, "The elected representative of the people have signaled that the time has arrived for modernizing Illinois' bank structure laws."

James B. Watt, president of the Association for Modern Banking, said, "We are witnesses to a history-making event in Springfield. Not since the mid-1800s has significant bank structure reform legislation passed the state legislature. We now look for careful study of this bill by Governor James R. Thompson."

AMBI has a membership of 275 representing over 80 percent of the total banking assets in the state, but many banks and several groups strongly opposed the holding company plan.

Watt said, "Our state is behind the times. We are surrounded by states which already have multi-bank holding companies—Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kentucky. Indiana has branch banking."

"Illinois is one of only three states in the nation—the other two are Oklahoma and West Virginia—without some form of multi-office banking."

Charles L. Dally, chairman of AMBI, voiced his opinion that "the goals of a bank, following affiliation with a holding company, would remain community-oriented. Assets would be used for the development of the city in which it is located."

"The basic management would remain intact, with local control by a local board of directors." Dally is chairman of the board of the Mid-America Bank and Trust Co. of Edgemoor, East St. Louis.

In outlining major features of the bill, he said, "Five holding company regions would be established, and a multi-bank holding company could acquire banks within the holding company's home region and one contiguous region. This would effectively prevent large Chicago banks from acquiring banks Downstate."

"Other significant provisions stipulate that after the date of enactment, newly-chartered banks could not be acquired until they have been in existence for ten years. And a multi-bank holding company could not charter any new banks," said Dally.

The legislation also provides for one additional limited service facility for a total of three. Banks are presently allowed two facilities, one within 1,500 feet and another within 3,500 yards of the bank.

The additional limited community service facility would be allowed within the home office county or, if outside of the county, no farther than 10 miles from the bank. It could not be established closer than one mile from the home office of another bank.

Youth tries to abduct woman

A youth in his late teens is being sought for forcing his way into the home of a 70-year-old woman in the 2900 block of Edwards Street last week. He struck her and tried to drag her to his auto.

The woman screamed to attract neighbors, and the would-be abductor cut her on the throat with a knife. She dropped to the ground, and he fled in his auto, on which the trunk door was open. She did not require hospitalization for the cut.

The assailant is 5-2 in height, of husky build, and has blue eyes and blond hair. He wore a cloth over part of his face.

Begin petition drive for Illinois Initiative plan

The Coalition for Political Honesty has begun a year-long petition drive for the Illinois Initiative, a constitutional amendment to permit voters to pass state laws by petition and binding referendum.

"The people of our state are far ahead of politicians when it comes to demanding reform and the Illinois Initiative will give voters the opportunity to vote directly on important issues," said Patrick Quinn, Coalition spokesman.

With the initiative power, Illinois citizens will be able to petition for binding state laws, referendums on key subjects like tax relief, ethics reform, transportation policy, and education.

The Coalition must collect 252,000 signatures by May 2, 1982 to place the Illinois Initiative proposal on the ballot as a constitutional amendment referendum.

Last November Coalition volunteers organized the successful referendum campaign for the Cutback Amendment which reduced the size of the Illinois House by one-third.

Quinn said the Coalition's initiative proposal was drafted by top constitutional lawyers and is modeled after successful initiative provisions in other state constitutions.

Under the Illinois Initiative, citizens would be able to petition the legislature to enact a proposed law by collecting about 200,000 petition signatures.

If the citizen petition proposal is enacted by the legislature and signed by the governor, it would become law.

But if the citizen proposal is rejected by legislators or the governor, then the proposition would be submitted to a vote of the people at the next general election for their majority approval or rejection.

The Initiative Amendment also gives the legislature the option of putting its own alternative to the citizen initiative measure before the voters at the same election.

If this happens, the proposition receiving the most votes prevails.

Quinn said the Coalition's initiative amendment provides for legislative input and consideration but gives citizens "a ballot-box way to bypass the politicians when they duck and sidestep important issues."

Right now, 22 states across the country permit a citizen initiative process similar to that proposed by the Illinois Initiative Amendment.

In the Midwest, voters in Missouri, Michigan, and Ohio have petitioned for and voted on initiative measures in recent years.

"Long experience with the initiative process in other major industrial states has demonstrated that voters exercise common sense and good judgment when it comes to voting on initiative proposals," said Quinn.

The authority to put the Illinois Initiative on the 1982 ballot as a binding constitutional amendment is a current provision in the State constitution which allows voters to change the structure of the legislature by direct petition and referendum.

The Coalition used this same provision last year to collect 477,135 signatures and enact the Cutback Amendment by referendum.

"We believe our volunteers have the proven signature-gathering ability to put the Illinois Initiative before the voters in 1982," said Quinn.

Quinn said the Coalition will be contacting community, civic, and taxpayer groups across the state for support in the Illinois Initiative campaign.

Anyone interested in circulating Illinois Initiative petitions may write the Coalition at Box 708, Oak Park, IL 60303 or phone (312) 524-1978.

Route changes by Bi-State

The Bi-State Development Agency has announced it will make major bus service adjustments in the Illinois portion of the St. Louis metropolitan area, effective July 6.

The adjustments are necessary due to the elimination of local funding for public transportation in St. Clair and Monroe Counties and a subsequent reduction in state subsidies to Bi-State for transit operations in those counties.

The loss of funding will also result in the closing of Bi-State's East St. Louis and Belleville bus station garages and the loss of jobs for approximately 200 transit workers.

Sixteen Bi-State Illinois bus routes will be eliminated. They are the 500X Belleville Express, 502 Cahokia-Centerville, 501 Caseyville-Collinsville, 503 East McKinley-Raab, 509 East St. Louis-Cross-town, 559 East St. Louis-Fairview Heights, 562 Lebanon

Avenue, 704 Missouri Stockyards, 504 O'Fallon, 504X O'Fallon Express, 702 Rosemont, 564 Scott Air Force Base, 565 Swensen, 508 North Bell, 558 Tubman Express, 706 Twentieth and Central, 559 West Main Express, and all school

The elimination of the above routes will leave three lines serving St. Clair County exclusively.

Due to closing of Bi-State's two Illinois station garages, certain early morning and late evening trips on the 513 Alton-St. Louis, 507 Collinsville-Belleville, 503 Collinsville-Edwardsville, 505 Waterloo-St. Louis, and 533 West Granite-Stockyards lines will be eliminated. All buses serving Illinois will now operate from Bi-State's Missouri garages.

Don't chip away all the sources of schools' revenue

Guest comment by Harold P. Seamon, executive director, Illinois Association of School Boards—In its eagerness to respond to voter demands for tax relief, the Illinois General Assembly could do serious harm to the state's public schools. As the 1981 session enters its final days, lawmakers continue to consider a variety of local tax limitation bills that could have a devastating effect on the financial condition of Illinois schools.

It is tempting for legislators to vote automatically for bills labeled "tax relief" because such a vote is sure to be popular with constituents. But the real cost in the effect on schools is too high.

Public schools in the coming year will have to cope with state aid increases of less than 5 percent, far below the level needed and well below the rate of inflation. At the same time, there will be stringent cuts in federal funding.

Adding to the burden by further restricting school districts' ability to raise local revenues would be irresponsible.

Pending tax relief bills would:

- Revise the formula for assessing farmland ($37.64).
- Place limits on property tax increases for the coming year ($1.17).
- Provide investment tax credits against the corporate personal property replacement tax (HS 900-338.47).

In addition to the immediate impact on schools, which would be considerable, it is important that legislators consider the whole tax structure that supports public education.

Funding of schools through property taxes is based on false assumptions.

Local schools are primarily local enterprises, and much of both the control and the funding should come from local sources.

Too much federal fraud, waste

To the Editor: The average citizen has come to associate and lump together fraud, waste and abuse in government as if they were one and the same thing—a triumvirate of corruption. In practice, there is a vast difference.

Fraud involves illegal actions for which criminal statutes apply. Abuse in governmental programs involves taking advantage of loosely written statutes, poorly written regulations, failure to check out eligibilities to receive governmental assistance, and so on.

Waste, however, takes on a much different connotation. It may refer to an individual's idea of unnecessary or low-priority expenditures, duplication of effort, poor management, and a host of other things.

It depends a great deal on what we mean by waste. It is undertaken by government, and one's expectation as to the relative efficiency with which these programs are carried out.

The term "waste," as it is commonly used, covers a wide range of issues about which we hear a great deal—particularly during the course of an election campaign.

It is the substance of debate about the budget, frequently resulting in a dispute as to "how much is enough" to satisfy the public need.

The old phrase, "One man's meat is another man's poison," can be roughly translated to mean "One man's definition of waste is another's definition of vital necessity."

In other words, where one stands depends greatly upon where one sits; that is, how one's own interests are affected.

Nobody knows the extent of fraud, waste, and abuse in the federal government and probably nobody ever will. All kinds of estimates are projected—$10 billion, $25 billion, $50 billion.

President Ronald Reagan talked in terms of $34 billion in many of his 1980 campaign speeches. Suffice it to say: it's a great deal of money in anyone's language.

When you consider the number of federal programs, the inadequate controls in place in many of these programs, and the size of the annual budget—a large portion of which is disbursed in the form of grants, contracts, and payments to individuals—we can quite correctly make the assumption that opportunities for fraud, waste, and abuse are very great.

Although the full dimensions of this problem are elusive, the need to deal with it is real.

In a General Accounting Office audit recently completed, we learned of the existence of over 100,000 alleged cases of fraud and waste in federal programs related to 21 major agencies in the two and a half years ended March 31, 1979.

Losses in some of these cases were over $1 million. In total, they amounted to hundreds of millions of dollars.

Some of these cases involved federal employees, while others involved grantees, welfare recipients, and contractors.

One case involved an alleged $1.8 million embezzlement of medical funds from a health care program administered in the Department of Defense by an employee who was able to falsify more than 3,300 forms over which he exercised exclusive control.

Other examples of fraud and waste are graphic. For example, it is vulnerable to a variety of excesses, and the government is losing over half a billion dollars every year because of over-issued food stamp benefits caused by errors, falsifications, suspected fraud by recipients, and errors of local food stamp officials.

In a study completed by the GAO 22 months ago, we learned that internal control weaknesses over the Social Security Administration's system of grants and payments resulted in over $25 million in erroneous benefit payments to over four million Supplemental Security Income recipients.

Another case comes to mind involving the illegal mining of coal on federal lands in a number of eastern states.

Published estimates of potential losses to the government—based on the value of the coal—range from $135 million to over $1 billion.

We have urged the Bureau of Land Management to develop an overall strategy and plan to safeguard and manage federal coal in the eastern states. At the moment, no such plan exists.

The theft of registered and insured mail is a pervasive problem at the Postal Service and sometimes results in the loss of money in one of our cases, a postal clerk was caught stealing a parcel.

739 arrested in GC during May

It appears that Granite City police have been busy, or at least have been making a lot of arrests, as 739 persons arrested in the city for various offenses during May can testify.

According to the monthly report of the police department for May, arrests were up 176 percent from the 288 persons arrested in May, 1980. With more than one charge against some of those arrested, the number of charges filed last month, 826, was 144 percent higher than the 329 charges filed in the same month one year ago.

Of the 739 persons arrested in May, 397 were for traffic cases and 142 were for other cases. Traffic arrests were up 339 percent from the 136 persons arrested for traffic violations in the same month of 1980.

While arrests were up dramatically, the number of serious crimes cleared by arrests remained the same. There were 133 major cases cleared each May by arrests. Last month, one rape, 37 assaults, three burglaries, one auto burglary, 14 larcenies and two auto thefts were cleared by arrest. Another 95 cases were cleared through investigation, the report notes.

Crime rose only one percent from May, 1980, to May, 1981, the report shows. There were 184 major crimes in the city last month, only two higher than the 182 major crimes in May, 1980.

The largest increase was in auto theft cases, which rose 72 percent, from 11 cases in May, 1980, to 19 in May, 1981.

For the first five months of 1981, there have been 216 fatalities, the same as in the same period of 1980, while 216 persons have been injured in the last five months, up 16 percent from the 186 injured in the same period of 1980.

There were 149 accidents with 40 persons injured in May, compared to 145 accidents with 30 injuries in the same month of 1980. For the first five months of the year, 163 persons have been injured in 652 accidents. That compares to 134 injuries in 683 accidents in the first five months of last year.

The report notes that the police department answered 2,155 calls last month.

Navy commends GC nuclear submariner

Petty Officer Larry Gene Martin, an electronic technician third class, U.S. Navy, has received a commendation while serving on board the USS Francis Scott Key (SSBN-687), a nuclear submarine.

Petty Officer Martin also was cited for completing the "rigorous professional requirements for qualification in submarines, having gained a thorough knowledge of submarine construction and operation, having demonstrated his reliability under stress and having his full confidence and trust," according to Commander F. H. M. Spruitenburg, SSBN 687 commanding officer.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Martin, 2210 Alexander St., the serviceman entered the Navy in December 1978. He graduated from Granite City High School South in 1977 and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville prior to enlisting.

Petty Officer Martin attended Submarine School in Groton, Conn., and had further training in South Carolina.

Before joining the nuclear submarine crew in January, he was assigned to a sub-tender.

Petty Officer Martin's commendation, also signed by Commander Spruitenburg, stated in part:

"For outstanding performance of duty while serving on board the USS

LARRY G. MARTIN
Petty Officer

Francis Scott Key (SSBN 687) (BLUE), from 16 January to 27 April 1981.

"Through diligent study and determination, Petty Officer Martin was able to complete the enlisted qualification program in submarines in one patrol cycle. His success in this endeavor can only be attributed to his strong desire to complete the task at hand in a correct and orderly fashion, which required self discipline and adherence to a rigid qualification schedule."

"The senior member of Petty Officer Martin's board reported that his knowledge level was superior to all candidates previously examined by that officer."

"Petty Officer Martin's exceptional initiative and loyal dedication reflect great credit upon himself and are in keeping with the Submarine Force and the United States Naval Service."

State role in developing new tour attractions

The Hall-Young bill to promote tourism, sponsored in the House by State Rep. Wyvetter Young (D-East St. Louis) and in the Senate by Sen. Kenneth Hall (D-East St. Louis), passed both bodies of the General Assembly and is now on the governor's desk for signature.

The bill adds to the current powers and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs the ability to assist municipalities or local promotion groups in developing new tourist attractions.

"Tourism is important for the economy of Illinois in all parts of the state, from the Sears Tower in Chicago to the Shawnee National Forest in Southern Illinois, and the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows and the Cahokia Mounds in my area," Mrs. Young said.

"Continued growth of tourism is of benefit to everyone in the state and it is in the best interests of the state to allow the department to help develop new attractions."

TRUCK OVERTURNS, DRIVER IS INJURED

Paul R. Land, 36, St. Louis, suffered minor injuries at 3:20 a.m. Friday when the load shifted on his tractor-trailer and the truck overturned as he turned left from a driveway onto 16th Street at Edison Avenue.

The mishap was blamed on the weight of a steel coil attached to a flat-bed trailer. The truck fell onto its right side, and Granite City firemen flooded a street area where fuel had spilled.

REPEATED EXPOSURES

After an incident at an automatic laundry on Amos Avenue June 12, the same young man who exposed himself returned there last week and repeated the offense, as well as committing indecent exposure outside a Kilarney Drive apartment. He is about 17 years old, 5-10 tall, 150 to 170 pounds, with sandy blond, collar-length hair.

HURT IN COLLISION

Jack J. Cook, 43, of 1741 Bremen Ave., suffered slight injuries last week in a collision involving the rear of his car and the front of the auto of Kenneth Gieson, 2301 Miracle Ave. Both were southbound on Nameoki Road at Pontoon Road. Cook said he stopped at the corner before turning right.

SALES LEADER. The Granite City Libson Shop, 19th Street and Edison Avenue, led the 28 Libson shops in total sales last week. Mrs. Thelma P. Pyles, store manager, received a corsage and the store was sent a bouquet to mark the achievement.

Rape 'hotline' needs volunteers

An informational workshop on the medical, legal and psychological aspects of rape and the myths surrounding it is scheduled Saturday, June 27, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The session, sponsored by the Rape and Sexual Abuse Center at SIUE, is free and open to the public. It is also the first training session for volunteers interested in working with the center.

"We are in desperate need of volunteers to answer the 24-hour Rape Hotline at night and on weekends," said Mary Sudholt, rape counselor. The calls are the first step in an advocacy service that sends other volunteers to be with rape victims at the hospital and during police questioning. Many calls now involve children, she said. When fully staffed, the job requires answering the telephone one week-night a month and half a weekend every two or three months. Ms. Sudholt said most people think they must go to the Rape Center on the Edwardsville campus to be on duty. Actually, the center has a switching device attached to the telephone that allows the call to go into the volunteer's home. The only requirement is the volunteer must stay at home that evening to answer it, she said.

The Rape Workshop on June 27 meets at 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the Commons Building at Tower Lake. Instructors are Pam Klein, center director, and Stephanie Robbins, Edwardsville attorney. Additional training for Hotline volunteers will be arranged after the workshop. For additional information, interested persons may contact Mary Sudholt at 692-2197.

Varied health planning role for Eilerman

Ted Eilerman, executive vice-president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the recipient of a special award at the employee award banquet held in late spring at Sunset Hills Country Club, is being praised by his associates for varied achievements on behalf of the medical center.

Eilerman is an active participant in many health care organizations on local, regional and statewide levels.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis, serving as chairman of the Council of Planning and as treasurer. He also is a member of the organization's Council on Management Services and serves on both the executive and labor committees.

He was appointed to the board of directors of the Statewide Health Coordinating Council by Governor James R. Thompson. In that role, he has been involved with development of the first Illinois state health plan.

He also served as chairman of the executive planning committee for two years. Eilerman is a member of the Illinois Hospital Association's Task Force on the Future of Health Planning and the Medicaid Funding Crisis, as well as serving on that organization's Council on Health Facilities and Services.

In addition, Eilerman is chairman of the Community Health Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and is on the board of directors of ARCH (Alcoholic Rehabilitation Community Home) in Granite City.

He received his bachelor's degree in business administration in 1965 from Quincy College in Quincy, Ill. He received his master's degree in hospital administration from Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas, in 1968.

Eilerman joined the staff of St. Elizabeth in 1968 as an assistant administrator. From 1974 until the present time, he has served as executive vice-president.

Eilerman, his wife, Peggy, and their two children reside in Collinsville.

Two charged in DCI probe

Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation (DCI) announced Friday the arrest and charging of eight Madison County residents, including one Granite City resident, for welfare fraud. DCI also charged five persons from St. Clair County, charged Thursday with theft over $150 are Jerry B. Baugus, 44, of 23 Lakeview Drive, Ponton Beach, and James D. Embury, 31, of 2420 Adams St.

Baugus allegedly received $2,170 in state public aid funds while working at the Chain of Rocks Motel, according to the DCI. Embury allegedly received $2,650 from unemployment compensation and public aid at the same time.

Baugus was released after posting a $10,000 property bond and Embury was released on a $5,000 recognizance bond. According to a DCI spokesman the 13 persons charged had received about $33,000 by welfare fraud in state money.

The DCI has been investigating in this area for the past six months and expect to make more arrests in the near future.

DCI will continue to investigate persons suspected of welfare fraud in the area.

Jamie Farr now wear the pants

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — As he slipped into his nice, cool talcum powder, Jamie Farr steamed.

"I'm surprised at you," he said. "Cpl. Klinger hasn't worn a dress in two years. You must be watching 'M-A-S-H' reruns."

The reference which had triggered the temper of the usually composed Farr had been a remark about the robe he wore in his latest picture, "Cannonball Run," which compared it to the modish Klinger's skirts.

"That's so old," Farr, intimating that he's very tired of talking about his original "M-A-S-H" wardrobe. Writers, he added, should also be tired of writing about it.

Yes, he continued, in "Cannonball Run," playing a Middle Eastern sheikh, he wore draperies, but with his burnoose he also wore jeans.

Great Entertainment RIGHT HERE IN YOUR HOME

"Very expensive ones, I imagine," said Farr, "since the sheikh is so rich."

In a new picture he's making for CBS-TV, "The Eagle Rebels Ride Again," he's again wearing trousers "and a lot of talcum powder. I'm slipping into my talcum now, because I'm about to go to work."

The TV flick which also stars Don Murray and Barbara Eden is a motorized relative of "The Over The Hill Gang," a picture of a few years back which featured a sagebrush coterie in their sunset years determined to remount and clean up the West.

Walter Brennan was a leader of that gang.

Agewise, Farr can't be compared with Brennan, but "The Eagle Rebels Ride Again" can be compared with "The Over The Hill Gang" because of its theme. It's about a '50s motorcycle gang which comes out of respectability and remounts in the '80s to protect the lovely Miss Eden, a gang alumna.

Farr speculated that "M-A-S-H" will run for one more season then give up for a combination of reasons, among them, the arrival of contract renewal time.

He admitted that he'll probably always be identified with Klinger as surely as Clark Gable is identified with Rhett Butler.

"But I've been around a lot longer than 'M-A-S-H.'" As evidence of his versatility, he was performing on stage in Canada when Burt Reynolds and Al Ruddy phoned to ask him to play the "Cannonball" sheikh. Unable to resist a pair like that, Farr said he'd be happy to oblige.

Reynolds, Farr continued, muscled him onto his first televised talk show, Merv Griffin's.

"I'd been set for the show through a hard sell by my agent for a night when other guests included Burt, Eileen Brennan, and Gabe Kaplan, who, at the time, hadn't played 'Kotter'."

"Burt was promoting a picture he'd done for Peter Bogdanovich, 'At Long Last Love.'"

Reynolds was naturally allowed a lot of time. Then Brennan was called for her share of the show while Kaplan and Farr awaited their turns in the green room.

"But, before we were called," Jamie reminisces, "Lee Majors showed up as a surprise guest, and, of course, Merv wasn't going to take Lee off the air to make room for Gabe and me."

Nervously Gabe and Jamie watched the clock, realizing that one or maybe both of them would be cut out of the show.

"Finally," Farr remembers, "we heard footsteps. A man comes in and points at Gabe. I didn't go on, and my wife had bought a new suit for me to wear, too. A safari suit."

"The next day I got a call from the Griffin office saying Reynolds was insisting that I be a guest that night, because he felt so bad about me being cut out the night before."

The wrap party for "Cannonball" was held at Jimmy's a posh restaurant in Beverly Hills, and cast members were asked to come in costume.

"So I was dressed like an Arab," Jamie said. "As you know, Beverly Hills has a large Jewish population which made me pretty uncomfortable as I went through town on the way to the restaurant."

"But the sheikh I played isn't a bed fellow. He tries to give money to everybody."

There's no more reason to blame Mickey Gilley for injuries inflicted by mechanical bulls than there is to blame Henry Ford for auto accidents.

That's what Gilley reminds himself to keep his conscience clear.

It was through his club, Gilley's in Pasadena, Texas, that the mechanical bull, developed to train rodeo riders, became a part of American culture, a dangerous part, Mickey admits.

Bulls are now bucking in clubs across the country, throwing riders who've sometimes been critically injured.

"But I don't feel any more responsible for that," says Mickey, "than I would if I were an automobile manufacturer and somebody had been hurt in a wreck."

"These bulls are rodeo training devices, and anybody who rides one knows he can get hurt."

The popularity of mechanical bull riding has not only resulted in injuries, it's brought about lawsuits, several of which have been leveled by Gilley's organization against competitors.

"We have the patent rights (for the mechanical bull)," Mickey explains. "If the bull spins, bucks and (its action) is independently selective, it's under our patent."

"At last count, three companies were being sued. But I don't keep up with all that. My priority is music."

Mickey discussed his bull when he was in Nashville in the interest of his first priority, to perform for Dick Clark's production company on "Opryland, Nights of Stars and Futurestars" to be aired over NBC.

The show was being produced at the Grand Ol' Opry House where Mickey had just arrived, coming from his home base near Houston. From Nashville, he was going to Florida for concerts.

mand elsewhere that he can play Gilley's only twice a year, having come a long way since he cut his first record in 1974.

He credits his club in large part with his rapid climb to fame.

"I don't mind telling people that Gilley's, the club, is more famous than Mickey Gilley," the artist modestly admits.

"When it opened in 1971, it only seated 750, but television broke things loose."

A local television show made Houstonians and other Texans aware of Gilley and Gilley's after which the movie "Urban Cowboy" made most of the world aware of the club and its mechanical bull so that now, Mickey reports, "as many as 20 tour buses will stop there at one time."

"Sometimes from the stage we'll have to announce, 'Such and such a bus is leaving in 15 minutes.'"

"It's like called buses in a bus station."

Patrons at Gilley's do more than ride the bull, of course. They drink beer and hard stuff, eat, and dance the Cotton-Eyed Joe and the Texas Two-Step.

Mickey not only confesses that he can't do the Cotton-Eyed Joe very well, he can't even ride the bull with elan.

"I've ridden the bull a few times," he says, "but I'm not one of these macho guys."

"But," he adds cheerfully, "I can do the Texas Two-Step."

POINT OF VIEW

Michael Conrad — real-life romantic

By DON FREEMAN

HOLLYWOOD — What I particularly like about the character of Sgt. Phillip Esterhaus, the wise and deliberate cop in "Hill Street Blues," is his feeling for words. Give Esterhaus a word like "interface" and he will play with it, paw at it, chew happily on its pure essence of bureaucratic pomposity, uttering that one trendy, computer-chic word with delicious, mocking humor.

"Men," he will say at the morning meeting at the precinct, "I have here a vital memorandum which states unequivocally that we must interface with this pressing problem. Gentlemen, I beseech you — INTER-FACE!"

It is a terrific character, this Esterhaus — attractive to women, compassionate to his fellow cops and he is blessed with the sense of fun in assuming an unrequired formality. His captain, Frank Furillo, he addresses as "Francis," which somehow turns into an affectionate diminutive in a way that "Frankie," for example, would never be.

Michael Conrad, who plays the character that was tailored specifically for him, which doesn't happen often when you're not a big star and you've been around and you have got a face that not everybody can summon up a name to go with. But anybody who pays the slightest attention to television or the movies knows the face with its sharply chisled features.

"I'm like Esterhaus, yes," says Conrad. "I like the language. I appreciate nuance. I like words. I think there's fun in language. I did a part in a series called 'Delvecchio' for the producers and they know that I have the kind of intelligence and sensitivity that belies my looks."

The words are followed by a disarming laugh which is meant to dilute the seriousness of intent. But it is obvious that Michael Conrad, a big bruiser with an altitude of 6 feet 4 and a big bruiser's kisser, was not speaking in jest.

There was a piece in Newsweek about "Hill Street Blues," wholly laudatory in content, but Conrad grumbled at the way he was described.

"Hammock face," is what they said about me," said Conrad with distaste.

"I wrote to Newsweek about it. I wrote them that it's not the only way to describe me. I wasn't angry. But come on, now — 'hammock face'? Who wants to be described like that? I am not one of those macho men types. I'm not challenging. But I've got size and power and energy. As a young man, I may have had more of a swagger, a self-pride. You walk down the streets of New York that way, which is where I grew up, and people can resent it. I had to tone it down."

"Hammock face," he said with a small laugh. "I'm playing a worldly man, this Phillip Esterhaus, who's being fought over by two women and in whom a third woman finds it easy to confide. All my life, just as the women respond to Phil Esterhaus, they have responded to me. Women have always said to me, 'Michael, why don't you play romantic parts?' Well, no, producer ever saw me that way until 'Hill Street Blues.'"

"But in real life, I've got to say I'm a romantic individual," said Michael Conrad. "Women haven't exactly ignored me in my time. Look, I've had four marriages. That says something."

The eldest of two children of an Army career man, Conrad grew up in the Washington Heights section of Manhattan. He served in the field artillery himself and then went to New York's City College. Then he drove a cab and worked on the moving vans and he waited tables and he studied drama. For nearly 20 years now, he has been in Hollywood doing films and TV. Conrad watchers remember him from "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" and "The Longest Yard," the prison football yarn with Burt Reynolds.

"I see myself as a subtle performer," Conrad says, "which is why 'Hill Street Blues' is such a pleasure. I'm a pretty good actor. I've honed my craft. We do good work on that show, all of us. There's a level of intelligence out there that we're tapping on 'Hill Street.'"

Conrad's performance, which is sly and funny and winning and so natural you tend to forget he is acting, has sharply expanded his career.
